RESEARCH PARTICIPATION SURVEYS (Previous Year)

The final two survey examples represent more comprehensive research conducted through last year's Villages research intern program. These surveys demonstrate a deeper, more systematic approach to understanding student engagement with the Villages. The Villages team is actively working to reinstitute the Research Intern Program for next year, recognizing its critical value in providing comprehensive assessment data.

Research Survey Components:

Demographics Section (14 responses shown):

- Age distribution (>18 vs <18)
- Academic standing (First Year through third year+)
- Club/organization involvement at De Anza

Village Event Attendance:

- Whether students attended Village events that quarter
- Frequency of attendance (1, 2-3, or 4+ events)

Social Equity and Inclusion Metrics:

- Perception of inclusivity (students from all backgrounds)
- Connection to De Anza College community (5-point scale from "Very Connected" to "Not Connected at All")

Participant Demographics Study (9 responses shown):

- Last level of education completed
- Current year at De Anza College
- Major/minor
- Gender identity
- Origin/ethnicity
- U.S. birth status

 - Days of the week they typically visit
 - When they started coming to the village
 - Time spent at the village per visit
 - Whether they come alone or with others
 - Activities when visiting alone vs. with groups
 - Specific people they know at the village (professors, counselors, student workers)
 - Social interaction patterns and meeting new people
 - Situations where they meet new people
 - Impact on social connections
 - Suggestions for space improvement

KEY INSIGHTS FROM THE FEEDBACK EXAMPLES

Event Feedback Strengths:

- Immediate, actionable data following specific events
- Simple, focused questions that are quick for students to complete
- Mix of quantitative ratings and qualitative comments
- Consistent structure across different event types allows for comparison

Research Intern Program Value:

The research intern surveys demonstrate the program's critical role in collecting comprehensive baseline data about:

- Overall Village usage patterns and student demographics
- Social connection and sense of belonging metrics
- Inclusivity perceptions
- Longitudinal engagement tracking

This research provides the foundational understanding that informs programming decisions and identifies areas for improvement beyond single-event feedback.

Common Themes Across All Surveys:

Villages feedback form examples

1. Food as community builder and equity issue - mentioned in event feedback and as suggestion for improvement
 2. Social connection matters - students value meeting peers across Villages
 3. Cultural programming resonates - both the movie night (Korean cinema) and Day of the Dead craft event received strong engagement
 4. Space and timing - students need accessible, welcoming spaces at convenient times
 5. Diverse programming needed - academic support, social events, and cultural celebrations all serve important roles

METHODOLOGY COMPARISON

Event Surveys:

- Distributed immediately post-event
- Target specific participants
- Focus on program quality and satisfaction
- Generate rapid feedback for continuous improvement

Research Intern Surveys:

- Administered periodically (quarterly/annually)
 - Sample broader Village user population
 - Collect demographic and behavioral data
 - Support program assessment and strategic planning
 - Enable measurement of longer-term outcomes like sense of belonging

IMPLICATIONS AND FUTURE DIRECTIONS

The combination of event-specific feedback and comprehensive research surveys creates a robust assessment system that:

1. Enables rapid iteration on programming based on immediate student input
2. Tracks broader trends in Village engagement and student success indicators
3. Informs equity-focused decisions through demographic and inclusivity data
4. Demonstrates program value through both satisfaction metrics and usage patterns
5. Identifies gaps in service delivery and student needs

Looking Ahead: Reinstating the Research Intern Program

Villages feedback form examples

The Villages team is committed to bringing back the Research Intern Program next year, understanding that this comprehensive research capacity is essential for:

- Strategic planning based on longitudinal data and usage patterns
- Demonstrating program impact through rigorous assessment beyond event satisfaction
- Identifying equity gaps that may not be visible in event-level feedback
- Informing resource allocation through data on which students are (and aren't) being served
- Student leadership development through meaningful research experience
- Building institutional knowledge about what works and why

In the interim, the proposed Student Advisory Board would help maintain student voice in program development and assessment, serving as a bridge until the Research Intern Program can be fully restored. However, the formal research capacity provided by trained interns conducting systematic studies remains a priority for comprehensive program evaluation and continuous improvement.

This dual approach—combining responsive event feedback with systematic research—positions the Villages to be both agile in meeting immediate student needs and strategic in long-term program development.
